INTRODUCTION

A business plan brings together all of your thoughts and research into how you plan to operate and manage your business. It should be written to explain to someone who knows nothing about you or your idea. The business plan will assist you to think of areas in running your business you may not have thought through. It is a good planning document and it will detail to any investors/lenders why you think your business will be a success. There are many resources on-line to assist with the completion of your business plan.

Sales projections should be reasonable and based on stated assumptions which should be outlined. How did you arrive at these sales figures and are they realistic? Sales and expenses fluctuate by month and should not just be spread across 12 months evenly, for example sales may be up or down in the summer and insurance is generally paid for up front.

Explanation of Terms:

Cash Disbursements (Money you spend)

Wages/Salaries: - Money you expect to spend on employee wages/salaries, plus your employment expenses (i.e. employer's share of unemployment insurance, Canada Pension Plan deductions and Worker's Compensation premiums).

Cost of Goods Sold: - Money required to purchase your inventory and/or for the manufacture of your products.

Utilities: - Money required to pay for heating and hydro expenses.

Other: - Any cost not provided for in the above list, but which is specific to your business.

Personal Drawings: - Money withdrawn from the business by the owner(s) for personal living allowances.

Net Cash - Calculate your NET CASH position for each month by subtracting cash-in from cash-out. If receipts are greater than disbursements enter the difference as monthly surplus. If disbursements are greater than receipts enter the difference as monthly deficit. To calculate cumulative net cash, add the monthly surplus to (or subtract the monthly deficit from) the cumulative net cash of the month before (e.g. if you have a net cash surplus of $500 in April, and a $200 net cash deficit in May, your cumulative net cash at the end of May would be $300).
